DECREE

The provisions Canon 513, §2, of the Code of Canon Law establish that the Diocesan Pastoral Council lapses when the See is vacant. On February 27, 2008, our Holy Father accepted the resignation of Bishop Carl F. Mengeling, the fourth bishop of Lansing, my predecessor. During the vacancy, the functions of governance of the Diocese have been fulfilled by the College of Consultors.

Having now taken possession of the See, and being aware of the need to “study and weigh those matters which concern the pastoral works in the diocese, and to propose practical conclusions concerning them” (Can. 511) I hereby reconvene the Diocesan Pastoral Council effective on Thursday, May 15, 2008.

The membership of the Diocesan Pastoral Council will remain the same as that on February 27, 2008 and members will resume their place on the Council based upon their term of office from the time of their appointment.

Anything to the contrary, notwithstanding.

Given in Lansing at the Curia, on this the 30th day of April, 2008.

HISTORY OF THE DIOCESAN PASTORAL COUNCIL

In the Vatican II document, Decree on the Pastoral Office of Bishop, Bishops throughout the world were asked to form “in each diocese a pastoral council over which the diocesan bishop himself will preside and in which specially chosen clergy, religious and lay people will participate”. The document stated that the function of the diocesan council would be “to investigate and to weigh matters which bear on pastoral activity and to formulate practical conclusions regarding them”. The implementation of this document was begun by the late Bishop Kenneth J. Povish. In 1977 he asked the regional priest-vicars, the Sisters’ Council, and the Priests’ Senate to recommend names for a steering committee to perform work preliminary to the establishment of a Diocesan Pastoral Council.

During its first year, the committee familiarized itself with the structure of the diocese and studied, under competent scholars, the theological dimension of a diocesan pastoral council. In September 1978, Bishop Povish appointed Reverend William Meyers to be executive secretary of the committee. In January of 1979, Bishop Povish designated the committee as the “Interim Diocesan Pastoral Council”. Officers appointed to the Interim Council were Sister Carol Jean McDonnell OP, chairperson, Mr. Robert Grace, vice-chairperson, and Reverend William Meyers, executive secretary.

Following these appointments, the council adopted By-Laws and Articles of Understanding which included the process for electing members for the permanent Diocesan Pastoral Council. The process began with Spring Regional Meetings in 1980 and during the First Diocesan Pastoral Assembly that year, one-half of the permanent council was elected. One-half of the Interim Council members continued to serve until the elected membership was completed at the Second Diocesan Pastoral Assembly in the fall of 1982.

The Assembly of 1990 responded to the challenge described in the Acts of the Apostles by introducing a “selection by lot” process for new members. Four priorities were identified at this Assembly. The efforts of the Council were directed toward assisting parishes of the diocese in the implementation of these priorities from 1990-1995.

In 1999, Bishop Carl F. Mengeling established the Office of Pastoral Planning whose mission statement reads: “Pastoral planning calls the Church to collaborate in the mission of Jesus Christ. This ministry is a continuing process of listening, surfacing needs, assessing resources, planning, and implementing a faith-filled response.”

The Diocese of Lansing continued its preparation for the celebration of the Great Jubilee Year 2000 and heeded the words of Pope John Paul II in Novo Millennio Ineunte, 29 that state: “the programme of the Gospel must continue to take root, as it has always done, in the life of the Church everywhere. It is in the local churches that the specific features of a detailed pastoral plan can be identified — goals and methods, formation and enrichment of the people involved, the search for the necessary resources — which will enable the proclamation of Christ to reach people, mould communities, and have a deep and incisive influence in bringing Gospel values to bear in society and culture”.

It was within this framework that the detailed seven-goal pastoral plan for the Diocese of Lansing was developed. Promulgated by Bishop Mengeling on November 15, 2001, the seven-goal pastoral plan was designed to move the Church of Lansing far into the first decade of the third millennium. The newly formed Diocesan Pastoral Council was given the responsibility of guiding the process of implementing the plan.
